The Illinois Commission on Intergovernmental Cooperation compiled this volume of information from a comprehensive survey of all Illinois state agencies. The publication of State Assistance to Local Governments, 2001 would not have been possible without the cooperation and support of many program managers, budget analysts and state agency directors. Although it is not possible to list every individual's name, we are grateful to all for their contribution.

The descriptions are provided by the state agencies in response to a survey conducted by the Commission.

The catalog is intended to serve as a comprehensive source of information on state/local assistance, and it has proven to be a popular publication among officials at both the state and local level. The Commission staff welcomes your comments or suggestions.

Sincerely,

Handwritten signatures of Senator Kimberly A. Lightford and Representative Kathleen L. Wojcik.

INDEX	271

Introduction

The relationship between Illinois state government and over 5,800 units of local government and special districts (excluding school districts) involves the transfer of over $8.7 billion a year. Both federal and state funds are distributed to local units from many different state agencies.

Two hundred and forty one financial assistance programs are administered by the State, including grants for public library services for the blind and physically handicapped, soil and water conservation, housing, fire protection, museums and drug enforcement, to name just a few. The state also shares revenue with local jurisdictions, which is used for a variety of programs at the discretion of the local governments. The Department of Revenue administers and distributes a percentage of the state's income tax receipts and personal property replacement tax monies (totaling almost $1.9 billion in (FY 2000) to local governments. The Department of Transportation allocates a portion of its motor fuel tax revenues to counties, municipalities and townships. In FY 2000, $573 million was distributed to those units for road and transportation purposes. In addition, salary subsidies and bonuses are provided to many local officials, including state's attorneys, assessment officers, county clerks, police officers and probation officers.

The information gathered on the dollar amounts distributed to local units is important data for policymakers, but it captures only part of the state/local relationship. State agencies also provide various kinds of technical assistance. This includes training local officials, answering inquiries, and providing computerized data, group health insurance or surplus property. This catalog, then, is a summary of more than 380 state financial and technical assistance programs provided to local governments in Illinois. It is intended to provide legislators, their staffs, community organizations and local officials with the most comprehensive information on state assistance to local governments. This is the ninth edition of the catalog.

This handbook describes the state programs available to local governments. The 38 agencies providing assistance are divided into three sections (Elected Officers, Code Agencies, and Other Agencies), and the agencies and programs within each group are arranged alphabetically. Each program summary is outlined as follows:

Objective: Outlines the purpose and objectives of the assistance and any qualifications.

Eligibility: Identifies which types of local governments are eligible for assistance.

Funding: Lists the amounts of funds available for distribution, where applicable.

Further Information: Identifies the Illinois Compiled Statutes and/or the Illinois Administrative Code citation applicable to the program and lists the appropriate state agency address and phone number.

It is hoped that the information contained in this guide will be helpful to state and local officials and the citizens of Illinois. To make the handbook easy to use, there is a detailed program index at the back as well as a table of contents which lists all of the programs and their respective page numbers. These features should allow readers to readily locate information in which they are interested.

In addition, the State Clearinghouse also serves as a contact point for the issuance of bonding authority to home-rule and nonhome-rule units.

Eligibility: Counties, Municipalities, Townships, Special Districts

RURAL AFFAIRS COUNCIL

Objective: Chaired by Lt. Governor Corinne Wood, the Governor's Rural Affairs Council works to improve the quality of life for residents of rural Illinois. Specifically, the council explores ways to strengthen rural economies, improve rural education and human service opportunities, support efforts of local governments and ensure that non-urban residents receive their fair share of state services. Because needs vary widely from one part of the state to another, the council emphasizes regional solutions rather than statewide action. In keeping with the council's aims, the Lieutenant Governor's Office helps individuals, businesses and communities to obtain information about and access to state services.

SURPLUS PROPERTY DISTRIBUTION

Objective: This program makes available to local governments equipment no longer used or required by United States federal installations and State of Illinois governmental agencies. Office equipment, computers, vehicle and heavy industrial equipment encompass only a small part of the property that is inventoried. This property is transported to central warehouses where representatives of local governments may view and determine its usefulness to that unit's needs. The local governmental unit may then buy the property, at roughly 10 percent of the original acquisition cost. All items of property must be put in use by the local governmental unit within one year and should remain in use for at least one year of service. Vehicles and items over $3,000 must remain in use for 24 months from date of receipt.

ACCIDENT INFORMATION

Objective: The Local Accident Reference System (LARS) uses special coding procedures to provide monthly traffic crash data to participating local agencies. Local agencies such as police departments, planning commissions, and city and county engineering departments use crash data to plan both highway improvement and enforcement programs to reduce crashes. Approximately 800,000 blank crash report forms are given to local police reporting agencies. Annually, crash summaries are also supplied to counties and municipalities. Most agencies participating in the LARS program are from municipalities with a population of over 10,000. A local agency must submit a written request if it wants to become part of the Department's LARS program.

AUTOMATED DISPOSITION REPORTING PROGRAM

Objective: The participating circuit clerks provide the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts (AOIC) an input file of disposition records of traffic and criminal offenses in the layout prescribed by the Automated Disposition Reporting Data Dictionary. This information is then formatted and forwarded to the respective state agencies. The advantage is that clerks are only required to submit one file to the AOIC, as opposed to submitting each disposition manually or providing separate files to each participating agency. This is a free program for the counties. The only requirement is that the input file is in the format prescribed by the Automated Disposition Reporting Data Dictionary. The Dictionary is available from the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts.

GRADE CROSSING PROTECTION

Objective: Funding is provided to help defray the cost of installing railroad-highway crossing protection and grade separation structures. This is done to reduce accidents and fatalities at crossings. Recent legislation broadened the Commission's responsibilities over interconnected highway traffic signals and railroad crossing signals. The estimated FY 1997 expenditure includes an estimated $1,000,000 allocation to assist funding of interconnected railroad crossing signals with highway traffic signals. The $1,000,000 allocation for interconnection of signals is a significant increase of fund expenditures for this purpose. The portion paid by local government is yet to be determined.

NATURAL GAS PIPELINE SAFETY

Objective: The Illinois Commerce Commission's Pipeline Safety Section conducts on-site inspections of the 120 gas system operators (65 of which are municipal systems) in the state to determine compliance with all applicable federal and/or State Pipeline Safety Regulations. The inspectors monitor the operator's records concerning inspection, operation, maintenance, emergency procedures, and construction. Inspectors conduct field inspections of the operator's facilities to verify compliance with regulations covering design, construction, operation and maintenance of the pipeline facilities. Pipeline Safety personnel conduct training seminars for small gas system operators. These seminars have resulted in more responsive compliance with safety requirements. Municipalities which operate a natural gas pipeline system are under the jurisdiction of the ICC's pipeline safety program for safety-related issues. Rates charged by the municipality and customer service issues beyond operation, maintenance and construction activities are not jurisdictional to the ICC. Pipeline Safety personnel follow a schedule for the inspection of municipal systems, periodically provide training to municipal system personnel, and are always available to answer questions and provide assistance when needed.

JUVENILE ACCOUNTABILITY INCENTIVE BLOCK GRANT (JAIBG)

Objective: The newly created block grant is unique in that it was created by an act of Congress without the support of the administration. The funding was not in the President's budget and did not have the usual piece of enabling legislation that accompanies most grant programs. The funds must be used to affect improvements in twelve purpose areas and applicants must meet certain requirements in order to be eligible for funding. Up to 25 percent of the available funds may be retained by state agencies with the remaining 75 percent to be distributed directly to locals. Localities that by formula would qualify for less than $5,000 in direct federal funding must apply to the ICJIA for funds. The ICJIA will administer approximately $818,000 in grant funds for smaller communities. The ICJIA encourages smaller communities to form local coalitions to strengthen their bid for funding.
